"The Riparian Restoration Conference is one of the most informative and useful conferences I have ever attended in my career in that it brings together scientists, resource managers, and practitioners with ample opportunity to share and discuss information, goals, and methods across a broad range of relevant topics."

"This is the best Riparian Restoration conference I've been to yet in the 6 or 7 years I've attended, but they've gotten better every year. Through these conferences, I've found an engaged, passionate, scientific community that continues to advance strategies and understanding of the many dimensions of riparian restoration. Amazing, inspiring work!"

CHANGING RIVERS

Partner with us at the leading restoration conference in the West.

Since 2001, RiversEdge West has been conducting riparian restoration research and management conferences with a focus on impacts to riverside habitat in the arid western U.S. These gatherings are driven by RiversEdge West's commitment to advance the knowledge and practice of riparian restoration.

The primary goal of REW's annual conference is to share the latest scientific findings in the field of riparian restoration with practitioners, students, and researchers alike. Additionally, the conference serves to connect the people managing impacted lands with the techniques, findings, and products that help make restoration successful. This venue also serves as a valuable networking opportunity to build relationships that foster innovation, collaboration, new projects, and advance research.

Due to COVID-19, the 19th Annual Conference will be held in a virtual collaborative format over the course of two weeks - from February 16-19, 2021, and February 23-25, 2021. The conference will feature a mix of live sessions and panels with interactive discussion, pre-recorded presentations followed by live Q&A, field tours and demonstrations, as well as plenty of virtual networking opportunities.

Your sponsorship will directly support all aspects of the conference: from scholarships for students to the cost of the virtual platform and staff time.
