CALL FOR PAPERS

RIPARIAN RESTORATION CONFERENCE

Please email your abstracts to Cara at ckukuraitis@tamariskcoalition.org by October 13, 2017 following the abstract template provided on the following page.

New topics or updates discussing case studies, lessons learned, research presentations (please make sure you translate your findings to land managers), practical applications, or riparian restoration related projects are encouraged. Abstracts that specifically address the topic areas listed below will be given special consideration:

- Restoration resources and challenges (e.g. post-fire resources in tamarisk and Russian olive, working with challenging soils)
- Adaptation (e.g. responses to changing climate and ecosystems)
- Revegetation techniques (e.g. cottonwood and willow survival, strategies for successful reseeding of native grasses)
- Riparian grazing management (e.g. best practices and challenges with grazing in riparian areas)
- Russian olive management and other invasives
- Technology (e.g. databases, mapping, using drones)
- Private lands (e.g. fee for service, engagement)
- Community (e.g. stewardship, urban restoration, diversifying volunteer groups, changing volunteer patterns, citizen science projects and engagement strategies)
- Biocontrol
- Permitting (e.g. endangered species, status updates)
- Restoring for wildlife (e.g. tools to prioritize restoration for wildlife, long-term monitoring/evaluation efforts)
- Funding (e.g. capacity building, new funding initiatives, donor development)
- Partnerships (e.g. addressing staff turnover, defining goals, creating project synergy between state/local agencies and federal agencies)
- River and stream aspects (e.g. flow regime, channel dynamics, native and invasive vegetation, geomorphology, sedimentation and water quality)

ABSTRACT DEADLINE OCTOBER 13, 2017
Oral Presentations: Oral presentations will be 25 minutes in length (20 minutes for your presentation with 5 minutes for questions). If your abstract is accepted, you will receive additional information regarding presentation logistics and guidelines. Please note that the length of each presentation is subject to change.

Poster Presentations: Poster presentations are strongly encouraged as they allow extended informal discussions and active participation of co-authors. There will be a dedicated poster session on Tuesday, February 6 from 5-7pm (exact time TBD) in addition to the posters being displayed throughout the duration of the conference.

Registration Policy: All oral and poster presenters are required to register for the conference before January 8, 2018. A limited number of scholarships and student rates will be available.

Cancellation Policy: Please do not submit an abstract if you are not confident that you will be able to attend the conference and make the presentation. Cancellations impose a serious burden on the Conference Committee and negatively impact the overall quality of the program. If your presentation has been accepted but extenuating circumstances prevent your attendance, we ask that you attempt to find another individual to make the presentation and notify us of this change as soon as possible.
