Pulling for Pollinators
Volunteer Event
July 16, 2014

Help out pollinators while getting some fresh air and exercise...
Come help us pull weeds at the Watson Island Pollinator Garden

When: Wednesday, July 16th; 7:00am-9:30 am

Where: Meet at the Riverfront Trailhead near Western Colorado Botanical Gardens (641 Struthers) in Grand Junction, CO.

What to Bring: Water bottle, snacks, boots you aren’t afraid of getting wet, and hand clippers (if you have them).

What: We will be pulling weeds and laying down a thick layer of wood mulch.

Why: Last fall, Tamarisk Coalition, in partnership with the City of Grand Junction and the Western Colorado Conservation Corps, installed a pollinator garden at Watson Island. Despite previous weed treatments on the site, kochia, a tall weedy species, is trying its darnedest to shade out the newly planted native plant species.

Please RSVP: Call or email Shannon Hatch, Restoration Coordinator; 970-256-2400; shatch@tamariskcoalition.org
